

Grade 6.2.3 Wilson Fluency

Dinosaur Ghosts

fos real hap di hun lit
sci sils ly pen no
dreds tle en tist saur

---

fossils really happen dinosaur
hundreds little scientist

---

There is a saying that the place called Ghost Ranch in New Mexico got its name because each night after dark,
its fossils come out of the ground to play.

No one has really seen this happen, of course. But if there were such a thing as a dinosaur ghost, the red and green hills of this beautiful ranch would be filled with them. Hundreds of Coelophysis (SEEL-oh-FIE-sis) dinosaurs perished together here, in a tangle of necks, tails, arms, and legs.

And for years scientists have been haunted by the question:
Why did so many little dinosaurs die at Ghost Ranch?

To begin to answer that question, we must go back in time to the summer of 1947, when a scientist made a spectacular find.

There is a saying that the place called Ghost Ranch in New Mexico got its name because each night after dark, its fossils come out of the ground to play.

No one has really seen this happen, of course. But if there were such a thing as a dinosaur ghost, the red and green hills of this beautiful ranch would be filled with them. Hundreds of Coelophysis (SEEL-oh-FIE-sis) dinosaurs perished together here, in a tangle of necks, tails, arms, and legs. And for years scientists have been haunted by the question: Why did so many little dinosaurs die at Ghost Ranch?

To begin to answer that question, we must go back in time to the summer of 1947, when a scientist made a spectacular find.